

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Celebrity Fitness Expert Supports Revolutionary New Health Supplement

Chicago, July 9, 2014

Celebrity fitness trainer and former World Super Middleweight Champion Danny Musico has formed a promotional partnership with Aqua Health Labs for their flagship product PhytOriginal, a revolutionary plant based Omega-3 EPA supplement. The collaboration was recently announced live on ESPN Radio.

Musico is a celebrity fitness trainer, actor, model, and a two time World Super Middleweight Champion. As Hollywood's go-to trainer for A-List celebrities, he has prepared stars including Demi Moore, Hilary Swank and Mark Wallberg for physically demanding movie roles. His personal and professional interest in optimizing health through strategic training and natural nutrition led him to the Chicago based company, whose mission is to provide the substantial health and pain relief benefits of EPA (eicosapentaenoic acid, an essential fatty acid) without the devastating environmental impact of extracting oil from processed fish and krill.

The only live marine phytoplankton supplement on the market, PhytOriginal cuts out the biological middle man by using the only natural source of EPA: the microscopic plants themselves. This provides customers a higher quality, sustainable EPA supplement with an intact nutritional profile and no risk of exposure to the toxic pollutants that accumulate in ocean fish, such as mercury, PCBs (polychlorinated biphenyls) and dioxins. Aqua Health Labs CEO Jordan Markuson said, "We're thrilled that Danny shares our healthier, environmentally responsible vision for the future of Omega-3 supplementation."

- MORE -

There is abundant scientific evidence demonstrating the health benefits of essential fatty acids, including improved cardiovascular health, lower cholesterol and reduced joint pain. These advantages are well understood by Musico, who lives with chronic joint pain typical of lifelong boxers. His constant pain was compounded after being near-fatally struck by a car, resulting in a grueling 18 month recovery during which doctors were astonished that he overcame their predictions he would not walk again. After just a few months of taking PhytOriginal daily, he was thrilled at the dramatic reduction in joint pain, and recently tweeted “My body hasn't felt this great in years thanks to PhytOriginal.” He now recommends it when providing nutritional guidance to his fitness clients to help them with their long term wellness goals and to minimize their discomfort during routine recovery from intense training sessions.

Those interested in making the switch from fish oil to phytoplankton to support cardiovascular health, enhance workout recovery and relieve joint pain can learn more at AquaHealthLabs.com.

-END-

Corporate Summary

CONTACT:

Jordan Markuson

Aqua Health Labs

1-844-PHYTO22

jmarkuso@aquaehealthlabs.com

AquaHealthLabs.com